Clive's Comments

Last month of winter and the days are getting longer and the hints of spring are everywhere. Normally a good time for nursery industry as we look to the busy spring period. However there seems to be a lot of doubt. I feel a sense of anticipation in the public and a pent up demand for some gardening. However the constant battle in the media on how bad Victoria and Australia are doing could be stifling demand. A few weeks ago we had a Garden Club visit and they were all complaining about the fuel costs. That week ULP was selling for $1.60 to $1.80 per litre. I am not sure as we only have diesel vehicles but that looked pretty cheap to me. The folks were just responding to media reports,

There is of course the belief that as the economy tightens the money spent in the garden does drop or rise. The demographic of the consumer changes. As I think back over the last 30 years I think this is correct. The only real downturn happened when the whole country was dry and the talk was not about inflation and interest rates but water restrictions. The landscape sector still seems busy as the demand for housing continues to increase. We just want an early spring and late summer!

Going back into the past I dug out my comments from August 2016. Seems the issues don't change much!.....

.... A month is a long time in politics and the nursery industry. This time last month we were getting ready for an election and settling into the normal winter conditions. It was expected that LNP would be returned to power with a decent but reduced majority. 30 days later and the LNP has scraped back into power whilst we still don't know the final results. This time we see a whole new group of minority parties and a shift back to the middle in the overall voting. Britain was voted on their EU membership and the odds were high on them staying. No-one really expected the exit and the following turmoil in the financial markets and the UK government. Will this lead to a breakup of the UK or the balance of the EU?

The winter has been harder than usual across most of the southern part of the country with some record cold days and lots of rain. Victorian water storages are the lowest for five years but still well above the pre-2010 drought years. NSW and Queensland have had significant non-seasonal rains while Tasmania has recovered a bit from a very dry late summer/autumn. Going forward most of Australia is looking to above average rainfall except for Perth and southern WA. This all good for our industry going into what is hoped to be a busy spring.

Politics is always an issue especially in our basket case of a state. The new paradigm of course is One Nation and how they will effect the election result. On a national level the latest poll shows them as possibly winning enough seats to form government. They may get the seats but where will they get the experience? In Victoria they are not so strong and most likely to have a major place in the upper house. In the lower house they are less likely to win as many seats. They don't have a lower house member in Victoria, they don't have any candidates and they don't have a leader. They also don't have any serious state based policies. There is a lot of anger here and it will be interesting to see what happens in November.

Anyway let's have a warm and good August and see demand for plants increasing early. Some rains during the week and warm weekends would be really good. For those in dry regions I hope you do get some early August rain to fill your dams. We should all have lots of stock on the ground just waiting for those sunny warm days. Reward the early spring gardeners. Also plenty of variety to encourage more interest and better gardening.

Clive Larkman

Do you want or need to import live plants?

If so, you may need to use a Post Entry Quarantine facility (PEQ)

- We have a PEQ facility with ability to handle the majority of plants
- Deflask tissue culture in PEQ or in regular nursery conditions
- Advise on packing and handling to minimise risk to plant health
- Assist in obtaining import permits
- Organise fumigation and insecticidal dips
- Will collect from airport
- Ship Australia wide once cleared PEQ (WA restrictions for new varieties may apply.)
- Pot on into larger pots post PEQ
- Bulk up stock post PEQ
- 30 years experience in plant importation
- 35 years experience in plant growing
- Handle one plant to several thousand.
- Fully licensed with Biosecurity and Border Control
